50TH
ANNIVERSARY
EST.1963

If your car is still under manufacturers warranty:- You can bring it to us for servicing without affecting your consumer rights to that warranty.

Since the introduction of the Block Exemption law in October 2003, many of you have realised that you no longer need to take your newer cars to main dealers for servicing, without invalidating your warranty, and that our stamp in your service book is every bit as good (and sometimes better) than the dealer's.

Main dealer servicing schedules are set out by the manufacturers, whose primary goal is to sell more cars, not maintain old ones. We, on the other hand have a different objective. We want you to be driving around in a safe and reliable car, in which you will come back next year for your annual service.
